

I believe you should keep the law as is. The public regulates how businesses are allowed to conduct their business all the time, and we have decided that we do not want these calls. The FCC should respect the people's decision. It is not any different than regulating environmental issues. A specific business's profit and loss are not factors when considering how they are allowed to conduct their business practices.